Income Tax Act, 2000

Updated to reflect all tax legislation through

June 2009

The Income Tax Act, 2000

as amended through December 31, 2008

FOREWORD

Income taxation in Sierra Leone has come a long way since the enactment of the first Income Tax Act in 1943. The legislation has undergone several reviews and amendments as the economy has evolved, given the dynamics of the global economy and the government's changing needs and priorities.

The civil conflict (1991 – 2002) provided, among other things, an opportunity for a critical examination of the fiscal incentives contained in our various legislative acts. Given the need to encourage investment and to mobilise additional revenue to address Sierra Leone's huge development challenges, including poverty reduction, income tax rates for both businesses and individuals were rationalised and progressively reduced. Administrative processes and procedures, as well as the penal system of taxation, were streamlined to encourage, promote and sustain voluntary tax compliance.

To reflect the new realities at the turn of the millennium, both within and outside Sierra Leone, the Income Tax Act, 2000 was promulgated. In the ensuing years, a number of amendments were made to the act as contained, for example, in the Finance Acts of 2006, 2007 and 2008, as well as in other legislative enactments. As an authority with a responsibility to provide quality services to our diverse, but valued, stakeholders, we have consolidated the various amendments into this volume. This piece of work will minimise the costs of obtaining information from the various and often scattered acts. In addition, we have also provided footnotes to the various amended sections and clauses, thus providing readers with some historical perspective on the evolution of the amendments.

In the production of this book, meticulous care was taken to ensure the identical reproduction of the Income Tax Act, 2000 with amendments. However, some changes in printing style were adopted both to enhance convenience and to improve readability. Thus, for example, marginal notes appearing in the official acts have been reproduced in bold face type in the first line of the section or subsection to which they apply. Nothing in this publication alters or affects the substance or wording of the law. Nevertheless, the laws as contained in the Sierra Leone Gazettes remain the official versions of the law.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the United Kingdom Department for International Development for funding this exercise through Crown Agents and the Finance Investment Advisory Service of the International Finance Corporation. We are also indebted to numerous individuals and organisations who, in diverse ways, contributed to making this dream a reality.

We do sincerely hope readers will find this volume useful, and we welcome comments and suggestions as to how we could improve the quality of future editions.

We wish you a pleasant reading and look forward, with much pleasure, to your support to nation building through revenue mobilisation.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (3), economic performance occurs—

- (a) with respect to the acquisitions of services or property, at the time the service or property is provided;

Long-term contracts.

53. (1) Income and deductions relating to a long-term contract shall be taken into account on the basis of the percentage of the contract completed during the year of assessment.

(2) The percentage of completion is determined by comparing costs allocated to the contract and incurred before the end of the year of assessment with the estimated total contract costs.

(3) In this section, “long-term contract” means a contract for manufacture, installation or construction or the performance of related services which is not completed within the year of assessment in which work under the contract commenced, other than a contract estimated to be completed within six months of the date on which work under the contract commenced.

(5) The value of trading stock on hand at the end of the year of assessment shall be the lower of its cost or market value at that date.

(6) Where particular items of trading stock are not readily identifiable, a taxpayer may account for the trading stock on the first-in-first-out method or the average-cost method, but once chosen, a

- (c) any amount included in the adjusted cost base of a depreciable asset, is more than the amount required to settle the foreign currency debt.

- (c) any amount included in the adjusted cost base of a depreciable asset, is less than the amount required to settle the foreign currency debt.

(5) Foreign currency debt gains shall be included in a taxpayer's assessable income in the year of assessment in which they are realised.

(6) A deduction is allowed for foreign currency debt losses incurred by a taxpayer in the year of assessment in which they are incurred.

the Commissioner may exempt the person from the application of subsections (7) and (8).

Losses on disposal of investment assets.

60. (1) A deduction for a loss on the disposal of investment assets is allowed only to the extent that the taxpayer has realised gains on the disposal of investment assets in the year of assessment.

(2) A loss that is not deductible in whole or in part in a year of assessment because of subsection (1) is treated as incurred in the following year of assessment.

MISCELLANEOUS PRINCIPLES FOR DETERMINING CHARGEABLE INCOME

Income of joint owners.

62. Income or deductions relating to jointly owned property are apportioned among the joint owners in proportion to their respective interests in the property.

Valuation.

63. (1) Where the calculation of chargeable income involves a receipt, an outgoing or any other amount in the form of property, services or other benefit, its market value on the date taken into account for tax purposes is used in determining the chargeable income.

(2) The market value of property transferred to an employee or other provider of services is determined without regard to any restriction on transfer.

CURRENCY CONVERSION

Currency conversion.

64. (1) Chargeable income under this Act is calculated in leones, subject to any other law relating to the conversion of other currency into leones.

(2) Where the calculation of chargeable income involves an amount in a currency other than leones, the amount is converted at the exchange rate applying between the currency and leones on the date that the amount is paid, accrued or otherwise taken into account for tax purposes.

(3) With the prior written permission of the Commissioner, a taxpayer may use the average rate of exchange during the year of assessment or may keep books of account in a currency other than leones.

Indirect payments and benefits.

65. (1) The income of a taxpayer includes—

- (a) a payment that directly or indirectly benefits the taxpayer; and
- (b) a payment dealt with as the taxpayer permits, which would have been income of the taxpayer if the payment had been made directly to the taxpayer.

(2) The deductions of a taxpayer include a payment made on behalf of the taxpayer or as the taxpayer permits which would have been a deduction of the taxpayer if the payment had been made directly by the taxpayer.

Compensation receipts.

66. Compensation payments received take the character of the thing that is compensated.

Recouped deductions.

67. (1) Where a previously deducted expenditure, loss or bad debt claim is recovered, the amount recovered is income of the year of assessment in which it is recovered and takes the character of the income to which the deduction is related.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a deduction is considered recovered on the occurrence of an event inconsistent with the basis for the deduction.

PART V — ALTERNATIVE CHARGEABLE BUSINESS INCOME AND DESIGNATED CHARGEABLE INCOME

Ordinary chargeable business income.

68. A taxpayer's chargeable income for the year of assessment as calculated without reference to sections 69 and 70 is known as the taxpayer's ordinary chargeable business income.

Alternative chargeable business income.

69. (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3) and notwithstanding any other provisions in this Act, a taxpayer's chargeable business income for the year of assessment is the higher of—

- (a) the taxpayer's ordinary chargeable business income for the year of assessment; and
- (b) twenty percent of the turnover during the year of assessment.⁹

(2) Where subsection (3) does not apply and where a taxpayer maintains in respect of a business proper books of accounts of all

receipts obtained, expenses incurred, the matter to which such receipts and expenditures relate and all sales and purchases of goods and services made in respect of that business, notwithstanding any other provisions in this Act, the taxpayer's chargeable income for the year of assessment derived from the business for which the taxpayer has maintained proper books of accounts is the higher of—

- (a) the taxpayer's ordinary chargeable business income attributable to such business for the year of assessment; and
 - (b) fifteen percent of the turnover of the business during the year of assessment.¹⁰
- (3) Where –
- (a) a taxpayer maintains proper books of accounts of—
 - (i) all receipts obtained and expenses incurred by a business and the matter to which such receipts and expenditures relate; and
 - (ii) all sales and purchases of goods and services made by that business;
 - (b) those books of accounts have been audited by a recognised firm of accountants; and
 - (c) the Commissioner is satisfied, that complete and proper records have been kept and that there have been no false, artificial or fictitious transactions

aimed at reducing the chargeable income of such business, the taxpayers' chargeable business income attributable to such business for the year of assessment is the taxpayer's ordinary chargeable business income attributable to such business:

Provided that the Commissioner may conduct an audit of the books and accounts of the business within four years from the end of the year of assessment.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (3), where the Commissioner has not completed an audit within two years of the end of any year of assessment, any excess tax paid by the taxpayer under this section shall be repayable unless the delay in completion of the audit is caused by a failure of the taxpayer to provide information requested by the Commissioner.

Designated chargeable income.

70. Where—

- (a) a person has not filed a return of income and the Commissioner is of the opinion that the taxpayer has derived chargeable income in the year of assessment; or
- (b) the taxpayer has filed a return of income and the Commissioner is of the opinion that the information provided on the return of income does not correctly disclose the taxpayer's chargeable income for the year of assessment;

the Commissioner may, according to the best of his judgement, determine the amount of the chargeable income of the person.

PART VI — SPECIAL PRINCIPLES FOR INDIVIDUALS

Individual as tax unit.

71. The chargeable income of each individual is determined separately.

Income splitting.

72. (1) Where an individual taxpayer attempts to split income with another person, the Commissioner may adjust the chargeable income of the taxpayer and the other person to prevent any reduction in tax payable as a result of the income splitting.

(2) In determining whether the taxpayer is seeking to split income through a partnership or trust, the Commissioner shall consider the value given by the other party to the partnership or trust.

(3) In this section, “income splitting” means the transfer of income from one person to an associate or the diversion of income from one person to an associate where the reason or one of the reasons for the transfer or diversion is to lower the total tax payable upon the income of the transferor and the transferee.

PART VII — SPECIAL PRINCIPLES FOR PARTNERSHIPS

Principles of taxation of partnerships.

73. (1) The presence or absence of a written partnership agreement shall not determine if a partnership relationship exists between persons.

(2) The partners rather than the partnership are taxed, but the partnership shall file a partnership return of income.

(3) An election, notice or statement required to be filed in relation to a partnership's activities shall be filed by the partnership.

Calculation of partnership income or loss.

74. Partnership income or loss is calculated as if the partnership were a resident individual taxpayer but without reference to paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section 32.

Taxation of partners.

75. (1) The assessable income of a resident partner includes the partner's share of partnership income for the year of assessment.

(2) The assessable income of a non-resident partner includes the partner's share of Sierra Leone—source partnership income for the year of assessment.

(3) A resident partner is allowed a deduction for the partner's share of partnership loss for the year of assessment.

(4) A non-resident partner is allowed a deduction for the partner's share of a partnership loss, but only to the extent that the activity giving rise to the loss would have given rise to income from a source in Sierra Leone if a loss had not been incurred.

(5) Income, expenses or losses derived or incurred by a partnership retain their character as to geographic source and type of income, expense or loss in the hands of the partners.

Disposal of property to and by a partnership.

76. (1) A contribution to a partnership by a partner of an asset owned by the partner is treated as a disposal of the asset to the partnership.

(2) A partner's interest in a partnership is treated as a business asset of the partner for income tax purposes.

Cost base of partner's interest.

77. The cost base of a partner's interest in a partnership includes any share of partnership income which has been included in the partner's assessable income in a previous year and any share of exempt income derived by the partnership which have not been distributed from the partnership.

PART VIII — SPECIAL PRINCIPLES FOR TRUSTS

78. For the purposes of sections 79 to 83—

“grantor” means a person who transfers property to or confers a benefit on a trust for no consideration or for a consideration less than its market value;

“grantor trust” means a trust in relation to a whole or part of which—

(a) the grantor has—

- (i) the power to revoke or alter the trust so as to acquire a beneficial interest in the corpus or income; or
 - (ii) a reversionary interest in either the corpus or income; or

- (b) a trust whose sole beneficiary is an individual or an individual’s estate or appointees, but does not include an incapacitated person’s trust.

Principles of taxation of trusts.

79. (1) The chargeable income of a trust shall be taxed either on the trustee or on the beneficiaries of the trust in accordance with this Act.

(2) A grantor trust or a qualified beneficiary trust shall not be treated as an entity separate from the grantor or beneficiary respectively; and the chargeable income of a grantor trust or qualified beneficiary trust shall be taxed on the grantor or beneficiary and property owned by the trust shall be deemed to be owned by the grantor or beneficiary as the case may be.

(3) The chargeable income or allowable loss of a trust shall be calculated as if the trust were a resident individual taxpayer.

(4) Separate calculations of the chargeable income or allowable loss shall be made for separate trusts regardless of whether they have the same trustee.

(5) Income, expenses or losses derived or incurred by a trustee retain their character as to geographic source and type of income, expense or loss in the hands of the beneficiary.

(6) A trust shall file a return of income.

Taxation of beneficiaries.

80. (1) Subject to subsection (4) of section 83, the assessable income of a resident beneficiary under a trust includes the share of the chargeable income of the trust to which the beneficiary is absolutely entitled.

(2) Subject to subsection (4) of section 83, the assessable income of a non-resident beneficiary under a trust includes the Sierra Leone-source chargeable income of the trust to which the beneficiary is entitled.

(3) No beneficiary shall be allowed a deduction for a trust loss.

(4) Chargeable income that is subject to taxation under section 81, shall not be included in the assessable income of a beneficiary to whom it is subsequently distributed.

(5) For the purposes of this section and section 81, a beneficiary is deemed to be entitled to a share of the chargeable income of a trust in a year of assessment where the beneficiary becomes absolutely entitled to the income within thirty days of the end of the year of assessment.

Taxation of trustees.

81. (1) Subject to subsection (2), a trustee is liable for income tax on the chargeable income of the trust.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), the chargeable income of a trust for a year of assessment shall be calculated by subtracting from the chargeable income of the trust calculated without reference to this subsection, the amount included in the assessable income of any beneficiary under section 80.

(3) Trustees shall be jointly and severally liable for a tax liability arising from trust income that is not satisfied from trust assets, but any trustee required to meet such liability shall be entitled to a contribution from each of the other trustees.

Taxation of settlors.

82. (1) The chargeable income as determined under section 81 of a non-resident trust other than a qualified beneficiary trust shall be included in the chargeable income of a resident person who has contributed value to the trust.

(2) If a person to whom subsection (1) applies is not able to ascertain the chargeable income of the non-resident trust, the person shall be deemed to have derived chargeable income equal to the amount of chargeable income that the person would have derived for the year of assessment with respect to the value contributed by the person to the trust, assuming a half yearly compounded net rate of return equal to six percent higher than the specified rate referred to in section 146.

(3) Where more than one person has contributed value to a trust to which subsection (1) applies, the chargeable income of the trust shall be attributed proportionally to each person who has contributed value with regard to the proportion of value contributed by the person.

(4) For the purposes of this section, a person contributes value to a non-resident trust where the person provides property or services to the trust for less than the market value.

Taxation of estates of deceased persons.

83. (1) Where the provisions of this section are inconsistent with those of section 81, the provisions of this section prevail.

(2) Income accruing or received—

(a) in the year of assessment in which a taxpayer dies, and

(b) prior to the date of death, which would but for the death of the taxpayer have been assessable to tax on the taxpayer for any year of assessment, shall be assessable on the executor or administrator of the deceased taxpayer for that year of assessment.

(3) Income—

(a) accruing or received after the date of death of a deceased taxpayer; and

(b) arising from an income-producing activity of the taxpayer before the taxpayer's death, which would but for the death of the taxpayer have been assessable on the taxpayer for any year of assessment, shall be assessable on the executor or administrator of the deceased taxpayer for that year of assessment.

(4) For the years of assessment referred to in subsection (2) of section 6, the executor or administrator of a deceased taxpayer shall be taxed on income subject to subsections (2) and (3) for the year of assessment on the basis that no beneficiary is then entitled to the income, and no beneficiary is taxed on that trust income.

(5) An executor or administrator of a deceased taxpayer shall be responsible for the tax liability of the taxpayer arising from any year of assessment prior to the year of assessment in which the taxpayer died.

PART IX — SPECIAL PRINCIPLES FOR COMPANIES

Principles of taxation of companies.

84. (1) A company is liable to tax separately from its shareholders.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), a dividend received by a resident company from another resident company is exempt from taxation.

(3) Subsection (2) does not apply to a dividend received by a financial institution by virtue of its ownership of redeemable shares in the company paying the dividend.

Deemed dividends.

85. For the purpose of this Act, the following shall be treated as dividends paid by a company to a shareholder—

- (a) the use or transfer of company property which confers a direct or indirect benefit on him or his associate; and

- (b) interest expenses disallowed under subsection (3) of section 35.

Share cancellations, redemptions and acquisitions.

86. (1) Where—

- (a) a company cancels or redeems a share or acquires a share from a shareholder other than in the course of a complete liquidation by the company; and
- (b) the shareholder retains other shares in the company following the redemption, cancellation or acquisition, the shareholder shall be treated as not having disposed of the share that was redeemed, cancelled or acquired by the company and the shareholder's adjusted cost base in the share shall be added to the adjusted cost base of shares in the company retained by the shareholder on a pro rata basis; and the shareholder shall be treated as having received a dividend in the amount transferred in redemption, cancellation or acquisition of the share.

(2) Where—

- (a) a company cancels or redeems a share or acquires a share from a shareholder including in the course of a complete liquidation by the company; and
- (b) the shareholder retains no other shares in the company following the redemption or cancellation, the proceeds derived by the shareholder shall be deemed not to be dividends.

(3) If a company in the course of a complete liquidation distributes assets in specie to a shareholder that is a resident company—

- (a) no gain or loss shall, for the purposes of this Act be recognised by the distributing company as a result of the disposal; and
- (b) the shareholder's cost base in the distributed property shall be the shareholder's cost base in the cancelled shares.

(4) Where a shareholder to which subsection (3) applies receives more than one asset in the course of a liquidation of a company in which it has shares, the proportion of the adjusted cost base of its shares that is attributed to an asset shall be the proportion of the market value of all assets received in respect of the liquidation that is attributable to the market value of the asset.

Incorporation roll-over.

87. (1) Where—

- (a) a person transfers an asset (with or without any liability not in excess of the adjusted cost base of the asset) to a company in exchange for a shareholder interest in the company; and
- (b) the person has a fifty percent or greater shareholder interest in the company immediately after the exchange, the transfer shall not be treated as a disposal of the asset by the transferor but shall be treated as an acquisition by the transferee.

(2) The transferee's cost base of an asset to which subsection (1) applies shall be the same as the transferor's adjusted cost base at the time of transfer.

(3) The cost base of a share received in an exchange described in subsection (1) shall be equal to the adjusted cost base of the asset transferred less any liability transferred.

Change in control of companies.

88. Where there has been a change of fifty percent or more in the underlying ownership or control of a company, no deduction shall be allowed under paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section 32 in years of assessment following the change for losses suffered before the change unless the company—

(a) continues to conduct the same business; and

(b) does not engage in a new business or investment except with the approval of the Commissioner, for a period of three years after the change.

90. (1) A resident taxpayer is entitled to an allowable tax credit in respect of foreign income tax borne by the taxpayer on assessable income derived from a foreign source.

(2) The allowable tax credit in respect of any foreign-source income may not exceed the Sierra Leone income tax on that foreign-source income, calculated by applying the average rate of Sierra Leone income tax to the foreign-source income reduced by any deduction properly allocated to that income.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (2), the allowable tax credit in respect of foreign-source income and the Sierra Leone income tax imposed on that income are calculated separately for each amount of foreign-source income derived by a taxpayer.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (2), foreign-source income derived by a foreign branch of a resident company is aggregated and considered a single receipt of income.

- (5) Foreign income tax borne by—the Commissioner may require any person liable to make a payment to the non-resident to withhold an amount from the payment and remit the amount to the Commissioner.

(2) A person who has withheld tax under subsection (1) and remitted the withheld amount to the Commissioner shall be treated as having paid the withheld amount to the non-resident person for the purposes of any claim by that person for payment of the withheld amount.

Taxation of branch profits.

93. (1) A branch in Sierra Leone of a non-resident company shall be subject to tax on repatriated income at the rate prescribed in Part II of the Second Schedule as though such income were a dividend taxable under section 118, this tax being in addition to income tax on the chargeable income of the branch.

(2) Repatriated income is the higher of—

- (a) funds repatriated in the year out of accumulated profits; and
- (b) the chargeable income of the branch less—
 - (i) Sierra Leone income tax paid on that chargeable income; and

PART XI — ANTI-AVOIDANCE

(2) The Commissioner may adjust the income arising in respect of any transfer or licence of intangible property between associates so that it is commensurate with the income attributable to the intangible property.

(3) In making any adjustment under subsections (1) and (2), the Commissioner may recharacterise the source of income and the nature of any payment or loss as revenue, capital or otherwise.

Recharacterisation of income and deductions.

96. (1) For the purposes of determining liability to tax under this Act, the Commissioner may—

- (a) recharacterise a transaction or an element of a transaction that was entered into as part of a tax avoidance scheme or which would result or has resulted in less income tax being paid;
- (b) disregard a transaction that does not have substantial economic effect, or
- (c) recharacterise a transaction the form of which does not reflect the substance.

(6) A person who completes or contributes to the completion of a return for compensation shall also sign the return unless the person is an employee of the taxpayer.

Cases where return is not required.

98. Unless expressly requested in writing by the Commissioner, no return of income is required under this Act from a resident individual—

- (a) whose chargeable income for the year of assessment is less than the amount specified to be taxed at nil percent in Part I of the First Schedule; or

Extension of time to file returns.

100. (1) Upon application in writing by the taxpayer filed by the due date for a return, the Commissioner may extend the period in which a return of income required under section 97 or an information return required under section 99 is to be made.

(2) The granting of an extension of time under subsection (1) does not affect the due date for payment of income tax under section 105.

PART XIII — ASSESSMENTS

Ordinary, deemed and special assessments.

101. (1) Where a taxpayer has filed a return of income and the Commissioner has decided not to determine the amount of his income in accordance with section 70, the Commissioner shall make an ordinary assessment of the tax payable and notify the taxpayer of any amount owed or overpaid.

(2) Where the Commissioner has determined the amount of a taxpayer's chargeable income in accordance with section 70, he is deemed to have made an assessment of the tax payable as the amount of any tax that has been paid or withheld during the year of assessment and may make a special assessment based on the chargeable income determined.

Jeopardy assessments.

102. Where the Commissioner finds that the assessment or collection of tax is in jeopardy because the taxpayer is about to depart from Sierra Leone, to cease business or to transfer property, or is in jeopardy for any other reason, the Commissioner may at any time issue a notice of assessment for the current year of assessment, for a portion of the current year or for the preceding year of assessment.

Amended assessments.

Provisional assessments.

104. (1) Where he is dissatisfied with a taxpayer's estimate of chargeable business income or the taxpayer fails to make an estimate under subsection (1) of section 113, the Commissioner may make a provisional assessment of the taxpayer's chargeable business income, which will serve as such estimates under subsection (1) of section 113 as the Commissioner decides.

(2) The taxpayer may appeal against a provisional assessment, where the Commissioner has disregarded an estimate made by him, and his appeal shall be treated as an appeal against an objection decision under section 137.

(3) Where an objection to, notice of appeal against, or an application for amendment to, an assessment has been filed, and except as otherwise proved by an order of the Board or Court—

- (a) the undisputed tax liability remains due and payable and may be recovered, notwithstanding the objection, appeal or application; and
- (b) the due date for collection of any balance of tax assessed shall be deferred to the earlier of six months from the date of filing or the date the assessment became final;

(c) a tax payer who files an objection to, notice of appeal against, or an application for an amendment to, an assessment which is not determined in his favour, shall pay as penalty 25% interest on the difference between that assessment and the undisputed tax liability.¹¹

(4) Upon written application by the taxpayer, the Commissioner may, where good cause is shown, extend the time for payment of income tax beyond the date on which it is required to be paid under subsection (1), (2) or (3) or make appropriate arrangements to ensure the payment of the income tax liability.

(5) If the Commissioner informs the Director of Immigration by letter that a person liable for assessed income tax has failed to pay the tax by the due date, and that he has reasonable grounds to believe that the person concerned is seeking to evade the payment of the assessed tax, the Director of Immigration shall prevent the person from leaving Sierra Leone for a period of five days from issuance of the letter, unless the person¹²—

(a) makes payment in full; or

¹¹ Section 105(3) was amended in 2008 by section 8(b)(i) of the Finance Act, 2008 (No. 7), by the addition of paragraph (c).

¹³ Section 105(6) was amended in 2008 by section 8(b)(ii) of the Finance Act, 2008 (No. 7), by the substitution of “seventy two hours” with “five days.” Section 105(6) formerly read as follows: “Upon application by the Commissioner, the High Court may extend the period of seventy two hours referred to in subsection (5).”

(3) Tax that has not been paid when it is due and payable may be sued for and recovered in a court of competent jurisdiction by the Commissioner.

(4) In any suit under this section, production of a certificate signed by the Commissioner giving the name and address of the defendant and the amount of tax, interest and penalty due, shall be sufficient evidence of the amount of tax, interest and penalty owed by the defendant.

Tax lien.

107. (1) If a taxpayer fails to pay tax by the due date, the amount owing and interest (together with any costs of collection that may accrue) creates a lien in favour of the Commissioner on all property belonging to the taxpayer, and has priority as against all other rights except as otherwise provided in this section.

(2) The lien created by subsection (1), arises at 5 p.m. on the due date and continues until the liability is satisfied or becomes unenforceable by reason of lapse of time.

(3) The lien created by subsection (1) is not valid against the interest of a person who is a purchaser from the taxpayer, the holder of a security interest granted by the taxpayer or other lien holder prescribed by the Commissioner where the interest—

- (a) arose in a bona fide arm's length transaction between the taxpayer and the other person referred to in this subsection;
- (b) arose before such other person had actual knowledge of the lien; and

(c) arose before notice of the lien has been registered with the Registrar-General.

(4) The Commissioner may prescribe circumstances in which the lien created by this section is not valid against certain persons even though notice of the lien has been filed.

(5) The Commissioner may file a civil action in the High Court to enforce the lien created by this section.

(2) A warrant under subsection (1) may only be issued after thirty days from the date the Commissioner notifies the taxpayer in writing of the Commissioner's intention to proceed with the distress.

(3) Subsection (2) does not apply if the Commissioner has reasonable grounds to believe that the collection of tax is in jeopardy.

(4) For the purpose of executing distress under subsection (1), the Commissioner or any public officer authorised by him may at any reasonable time enter any premises described in the warrant authorising the distress proceedings:

Provided that the Commissioner or any person authorised by him shall not enter any dwelling house except with the consent of the owner or occupier or on the authority of an order of a court.

(5) Property upon which a distress is levied under this section shall be kept for ten days either at the premises where the distress was levied or at such other place as the Commissioner may consider appropriate at the cost of the taxpayer whose tax liability is involved.

(6) If the taxpayer does not pay the tax due together with the costs of the distress within ten days of the distress being levied, the property distrained upon may be sold by public auction or in such manner as the Commissioner may direct, the proceeds of sale being applied first towards the cost of taking, keeping and selling the property distrained upon and then towards the income tax due and payable, any remaining proceeds being restored to the owner of the property.

(7) Nothing in this section precludes the Commissioner from proceeding under section 107 for any balance owed if the proceeds of the distress are not sufficient to meet the costs thereof and the income tax due, but at any time before execution of the warrant or judgement of the Court the Commissioner may stay or compound proceedings thereunder.

(8) The period of ten days in subsections (5) and (6) does not apply to delay the sale of property which is subject to spoilage.

(9) In addition to any other powers of collection and recovery, where tax charged on the proprietor or his agent of a business of ship or aircraft owner or charterer is in default for more than three months, the Commissioner may, by notice in writing, require the Comptroller of Customs to refuse clearance from any port in Sierra Leone of any craft owned or chartered wholly or in part by the defaulter until the debt has been satisfied; and

²³ Section 120 was repealed and replaced in 2006, by section 2(a) of the Finance Act, 2006 (No. 7). The amendment took effect on 1 January, 2006. It replaced the words “Payment of rents and royalties” with “Payment of royalties” in the subtitle preceding the section, deleted the words “the tax withheld on the rent payment shall be a final tax” in paragraph (a) of subsection 120(1), re-inserted subsection (2) and added a new subsection (3). Section 120 formerly read as follows: “120(1) Subject to subsection (2) and the Sixth Schedule, a person resident in Sierra Leone who pays rent or royalty shall withhold tax on the gross amount of the payment—

(a) in the case of a payment made to a person resident in Sierra Leone, at the rate prescribed in Part IV of the First Schedule, and the tax withheld on the rent payment shall be a final tax;

In spite of the language in the amendment that section 120 was being repealed and replaced, the amendment contained a new subsection (1) only. Subsection (2) was omitted. In the new section 120, in subsection (1), the words “the tax withheld on the rent payment shall be a final tax” were added in paragraph (a) and a new paragraph (c) was added. (2) Subsection (1) shall not apply to rents or royalties—

(a) in respect of property owned by a person or organisation referred to in section 8 or 9;

(b) where the monthly rental or its equivalent does not exceed Le 30,000; or

- (b) individual tenants shall withhold tax on rents payable to non-resident landlords but not on rents payable to resident landlords;
- (c) institutional tenants paying rent to either resident or non-resident landlords shall withhold tax on the rent payable;
